André Dezat Sancerre, Sancerre Rosé & Pouilly Fumé

The Dezat name is synonymous with quality Sancerre and Pouilly Fumé and we are great fans of their wines at Private Cellar – they have lots of energy, underlying depth of flavour and a delicious, chiselled minerality. Highly recommended for drinking this summer!

The family can trace their wine-growing history back to the 1550s. The current members of the family involved are André, a well-known local character with the nickname “Le Petit D(ieu)” and his two sons; Simon who manages the work in the vineyards and Louis who is in charge of the cellars and, making it a completely family affair, their wives Sylvie and Nadine who run the office.

Based in the hamlet of Chaudoux, their 20 hectares of family-owned vineyards cover six different vineyard sites, the fruit from which is then blended to create their superb Sancerre. The soils are a combination of “Caillottes” which is stony and lean and contributes bright, precise fruit flavours to the wine; “Terre Blanches” which is a combination of clay and chalky limestone which gives body and scent and finally, “Silex”, a fine, flinty soil which gives the classic gunpowder and stony scent that characterises the wines of the region. They also own the 10-hectare Domaine de Thibault in Pouilly sur Loire, which has heavier, clay and chalk and clay and silex soils and produces a wine with more texture and body. The vines are old, mainly planted in the 1950s and André was amongst the first winemakers of the region to produce Sancerre rouge and rosé from their small, 2 hectare, planting of Pinot Noir.

£ per case
in bond, London

Sancerre, André Dezat	2008	£117.60
-----------------------	------	---------

Water white in colour, with a gorgeously zingy nose of green grass and gooseberries, classic Sancerre, which continues onto the palate – fine acidity, lovely ripe fruit and superb Sauvignon Blanc zip.

Sancerre Rosé, André Dezat	2009	£117.60
----------------------------	------	---------

Pale oeil de perdrix in colour, with creamy white fruits and old-fashioned sweets on the nose, with clean, fresh strawberry fruit on the palate, light acidity and a fresh finish.

Pouilly Fumé Thibault, André Dezat	2008	£120.00
------------------------------------	------	---------

Water white in colour. Rich and mineral on the nose, with hints of newly mown grass and flint, leading to a plumply fruited palate, gooseberry and grassy, with fine, racy acidity and a stunning finish which continues to develop.
